A BOOM IN SIGHT.

BETHEL TO HAVE A FIRST-CLASS SUMMER HOTEL.

Hotel Property Bought by Charles F. Lord of Boston.—$10,000 to be Spent in Improvements.

Favor and fortune are sure to come to those who patiently wait. The good people of Bethel, whom the decree of fate hath made heirs to one of the most beautiful spots placed anywhere on this portion of nature's beautiful domain, are rejoicing as they, indeed, have a right to rejoice, at the sudden appearance above the horizon of what promises to be an oasis in the—brightest and most picturesque spot in this whole mountain country.

Bethel has a host of sons and daughters, who, having been reared upon her exhilarating atmosphere, and feasted their souls upon the beauties of nature so bountifully supplied to that dear old place which gave them birth, have always had a strong desire to see some provision made whereby more of their friends and fellow men might be brought to enjoy these God given blessings. Again and again, it has been said that there is not a spot in the whole White Mountain country better suited to the demands of summer tourists than Bethel; that there is not a large summer hotel in the whole range of hills, but, if located in Bethel, would be filled from basement to attic, and that the very thing that Bethel needs to place her at the zenith of the tourist business is a first-class summer hotel.

Mr. F. E. Lovejoy, the ambitious and energetic proprietor of the Bethel House, realized this fact and paved the way for a development of these possibilities when he began his extensive improvement of his hotel property last season. He has labored faithfully and well, has gone very far toward placing the property in first-class shape, and now another appears on the scene to bring the work to a grand completion.

The entire hotel property, which has been known for so many years as the Lovejoy Hotels, has been sold to Charles F. Lord of Boston, Mass., and Mr. Lord will take possession as soon as arrangements can be perfected.

Mr. Lord comes to Bethel highly recommended and has the characteristic of a wide awake, energetic business man. Work will begin at once, to put the property in first-class order. The houses will be thoroughly renovated, bath-rooms put in, the grounds graded, and, as Mr. Lord has said, everything that money can do will be done to make Bethel's hotels all that summer tourists may expect or desire. A large two story stable 112 feet by 42 feet will be built and filled with some 40 fine horses. Mr. Lord says he is something of a horse crank. He has run a large livery business in Boston for the past twenty-two years and proposes to operate a large stable in connection with the hotel in Bethel. He has dealt largely in fine horses and will bring nothing but that class here. Negotiations are being made for a very fine "brake," one of the best that money can buy; this, with the minor carriages, and fancy hitches, will equip one of the most up-to-date stables in western Maine.

In short, Mr. Lord proposes to give Bethel a first-class summer hotel and everything that goes with the same, and his large acquaintance in Boston with the class of men that are seeking such accommodations as he proposes to give will be a powerful auxiliary toward bringing about all that is anticipated.

Young Wife.—"I am determined to learn at what hour my husband comes home nights. Yet, do what I will, I cannot keep awake, and he is always careful not to make a particle of noise. Is there any drug which produces wakefulness?"

Old Wife.—"No need to buy drugs. Sprinkle the floor with tacks."

STILL ANOTHER BOOM.

Though perhaps not exactly a boom but if not, what is it? The Columbian Club, a society which has existed in Bethel for several years and counts among its members many of the energetic and public spirited ladies from each of the denominational societies of Bethel, has conceived of the idea of improving the appearance of Bethel by beautifying the Common.

This is a subject which has been brought before the people again and again, but which has resulted, as many times, in nothing but talk. With the force that is operating at this time, however, things seem to be assuming a more tangible situation. A subscription has been started, headed by liberal amounts and it is hoped and expected that Bethel's loyal sons and daughters will be quick to respond to the appeals of the Columbian Club, and that all that is anticipated may be realized.

The enterprise certainly has a tangible foundation. The Columbian Club is a permanent organization made up of no particular denominational sect, but includes, as has been said, ladies from all other societies. This society stands back of the enterprise and agrees to maintain in the future whatever the people assist them in doing.

The News heartily joins in the enterprise and offers its best service in its promotion. While the waters are troubled let the interested respond. We are to have a nice hotel and while capital from abroad is endeavoring to turn a channel of summer trade to our borders, let us all do our part to make our little village as beautiful as nature has designed it to be and give it a lasting affinity for that trade.

The subscription list has just been started but the results give a decided impetus to the enterprise. The paper explains itself and we give it to our readers herewith.

Let all who read consider this an invitation to "Come over into Macedonia and help us." The subscription account will appear in the next issue of the News and will appear from week to week, and we hope to receive contributions from all who have a warm spot in their hearts for this charming little village, which has been, and is, the pride of so many noble souls. Let us hear from you.

COPY OF SUBSCRIPTION PAPER.

We, the undersigned citizens of Bethel, and others interested in village improvement, severally promise to pay to Annie M. Frye, treasurer of the Columbian Club of Bethel, the sum of money set opposite our respective names, for the purpose of buying a suitable fountain for the Common, and settings necessary for the same; also other desired improvements for beautifying said Common.

Dear Sir: Postmaster Noyes, of Gardiner, Maine, says the Evans House there, was painted with Devos in '82, and again in '94—twelve years—and the paint was sound, though of course the color had faded.

R. W. Haines, Hotel Coburn, Skowhegan, Maine, uses lead and oil, and has painted four times in eleven years.

Both hotels have been well cared for; the costs are as five to one. We say generally the costs are as two to one—that's enough.

Yours truly,

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1902.

Fifty thousand people spent their vacation in Colorado last summer. At least the railroads report that many tourist tickets sold.

California has the record among her many big things, of having the longest electric power transmission in the world, over 200 miles.

Cecil Rhodes was worth $75,000,000. He lived to be about 49 years old, but there is no doubt to him it seemed nearer a century than half of it.

In Great Britain the ratio of widows to the adult female population is 76 in 1000. The ratio of widowers to the adult male population is 35 to the 1000.

Cecil Rhodes once said: "Some men's hobbies are to collect butterflies and old china. Mine is to open south and central Africa to British enterprise." He died trying.

Canada proposes to establish a great national park in the heart of the Rocky mountains which will serve as an asylum and breeding ground for the specie of the game, large and small that is now rapidly becoming extinct.

A prominent geographer has just made an interesting calculation. He says that if the oceans of the earth were to be emptied of their water it would take the rivers flowing into them 40,000 years to bring them up to the present level.

The nearly $60,000,000 which Wall Street will presently distribute in dividends, a frequently recurring ritual there, represents a good deal more money than it took to finance the Revolutionary War, which made so much prosperity possible.

"Get my name right," said the proud owner of the 1,175 pound hog. "It's Judson K. Bimm. My father was Col. Hiram Hotchkiss Bimm of Lexington, Ky. He came to Illinois in the year—"
"Never mind that" interrupted the secretary of the fat stock show. "Give us the pedigree of the hog."

The most considerable contribution to the April Review of Reviews is Mr. Carl Snyder's article on "American Captains of Industry." Recognizing the impossibility of making an exhaustive and exact list of the living great industrial leaders who have given America its pre-eminence in trade and commerce over all other countries of the world. Mr. Snyder has selected as fairly typical the one hundred or more leaders in science, invention, transportation, and trade who were gathered in New York to lunch with Prince Henry of Prussia, and rapidly reviews these men, grouped with a view to giving the special field in which each "Captain" has been notable, and his special significance in it. Not the least interesting part of the article are the photographs of no less than seventy-five of these builders of American industry.

High Pressure Days.

Men and women alike have to work incessantly with brain and hand to hold their own nowadays. Never were the demands of business, the wants of the family, the requirements of society, more numerous. The first effect of the praiseworthy effort to keep up with all these things is commonly seen in a weakened or debilitated condition of the nervous system, which results in dyspepsia, defective nutrition of both body and brain, and in extreme cases in complete nervous prostration. It is clearly seen that what is needed is what will sustain the system, give vigor and tone to the nerves, and keep the digestive and assimilative functions healthy and active. From personal knowledge, we can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for this purpose. It acts on all the vital organs, builds up the whole system, and fits men and women for these high-pressure days.

COWS FOR THE DAIRYMAN.

Highest Profits Invariably Come From Pure Dairy Bred Cattle.
At the recent convention of the Iowa State Dairy association ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin made one of his masterly offhand addresses.

In his opinion Iowa farmers are foolish in feeding the wrong kind of feed to the wrong kind of cows. He related how he had employed a man to visit 100 creamery patrons, see what kind of cows each kept, what they fed and the cost and find from the creamery books how much milk each furnished. It was found that thirty-five of these 100 farmers milked their cows at an actual loss and that every one of these losing herds consisted of dual purpose cows. "The reason for this," he said, "is ignorance and nothing else." The farmer was trying to dairy without cows suited to dairy performance, and he fed foods not suited to the production of milk. The highest profits in every case came from the herds which were dairy bred and dairy fed. They had dairy form and aptitude and food containing a sufficiency of protein.

Mr. Hoard's main contention is that the patron is in the rear. The creamerymen and the creameries are reasonably up to date, but the patron has not progressed. He is in the rear, and so long as this is the case no satisfactory progress can be made, for no creamery can prosper without milk from prosperous patrons, and they cannot prosper if the milk pays little or no profit.

Ideal Homes.
Some of the happiest and most ideal homes, where peace, contentment and harmony dwell, have been the abodes of poor people. No rich carpets covered the floors, no costly paintings were on the walls, and there were no pianos, no works of art, but there were contented minds and unselfish and devoted lives. Each member of the family contributed as much as possible to the happiness of all, endeavoring to compensate by kindness and intelligence for the poverty of their surroundings.

THE CAPTIVITY OF Lieutenant
Nathaniel Segar

During the Revolutionary War.

Here an Indian pulled off some spruce bark, untied my hands, and told me to write, that if ever we were overtaken by Americans, they, the Indians, would kill the prisoners. This bark he stuck on a tree, and then bound my hands again. After we had travelled on several miles in the wilderness, towards Umbagog lake, the Indians ordered the prisoners to sit down. Up on this, they took three scalps from their packs; but we did not know whose they were, nor where they obtained them. We knew that Mr. Poor's was one, but whose the others were, we could not conjecture, at this time; we feared that they were obtained from our friends, whom we had left behind. However, the Indians informed us, that they overtook a man in the woods, when they were on the way to Bethel. They supposed him to be a deserter from Canada, and killed and scalped him; and afterwards we were informed that they had killed and scalped Mr. Pettengill, which make the three scalps.

A bounty had been promised the Indians by the British officers, of eight dollars for a scalp, or for a prisoner. This is a most savage and abominable act, even for a savage, but much more so for a civilized people, as the savages would be as likely to scalp on one side as the other, whether friend or foe; and, therefore, must be the most savage act ever practised by man.

The Indians gave me a journal, which they said they had taken from the man whom they overtook in the woods; but I could not read it. I believe it was written in the French or Dutch language. At St. Francois, I was asked where the Indians had obtained so much money, as they had. I told them I did not know of more than twenty dollars, which they had plundered while we were with them. I was told the Indians had a large sum in gold—I believe they got it of the man whom they overtook and killed in the woods.

During our tarry at this place, we were permitted to sit down and rest ourselves, but they would not permit us to sit together. This was a very rocky place. Here they took the hair of their scalps in their teeth, and began to shake their heads, to cohoop, to jump from rock to rock, and conducted and acted in such a hideous and awful manner, as almost to make our hair stand upright upon our heads, and to fill us with fear and trembling. I had heard of an Indian powwow; but what tongue can tell, or imagination can describe the looks and actions of these savages on such occasions? Such scenes are beyond description.—Their actions are inconceivable. It would seem that bedlam had broken loose, and that hell was in an uproar.

After the horrors of this scene were over, we were ordered to pursue our journey. We travelled on till we arrived at Umbagog lake, which lies partly in New Hampshire, and partly in Maine.—We arrived here the fifth day after we were taken prisoners. The Indians here had three canoes, which were made of spruce bark. They made them, as they said, when they came to make prisoners of us. In these canoes we all passed safely over the lake. They now considered themselves safe. They had a little flour, and some moose scraps, with half the hair on; this they gave us to eat. We could eat but little, as hungry as we were. It was not fit for the dogs to eat. This was the last food we had to eat for several days, excepting some sugar, which the Indians had taken by plundering the inhabitants. Here they divided their plunder among themselves, and they had a very merry time of it indeed. Here, likewise, they took off their lousy shirts, and employed themselves in killing their lice with their teeth, as dogs kill their fleas.

After we had rested here some hours, we set out on our journey for Canada in their canoes. They having got rid of their fears, unbound us by day and bound us by night, till we had got to our journey's end.

Oil for the Children.

Give them oil—cod-liver oil.

It's curious to see the result.

Give it to the peevish, fretful child, and he laughs. Give it to the pale, anæmic child, and his face becomes rosy and full of health. Take a flat-chested child, or a child that has stopped growing, give him the oil, and he will grow big and strong like the rest.

This is not a new scheme. It has been done for years. Of course you must use the right oil. Scott's Emulsion is the one.

Scott's Emulsion neither looks nor tastes like oil because we are so careful in making it pleasant to take.

They conveyed us from Umbagog lake in a small river, which, I believe to be the Magalloway. They went some way on this river. Here they shot a moose; and boiled and roasted some of the meat, fell to eating like dogs; but we poor prisoners could eat but little, having neither bread nor salt; yet we were hungry. We tarried here some time. They cut some meat from the body of the moose, and partly dried it in the smoke, and put into our packs. Our packs being heavy already, and we much worn down with hunger and fatigue, could not carry much of the moose meat with us. The Indians expected to kill more on the way, but they did not. Three of the Indians made themselves mocassins of the hide of the moose.

We again set out on our journey for Canada, by land. We had high and rough mountains to travel over, and dismal swamps to pass through, day after day. We were weary and faint. The Indians could get nothing for themselves, or for us to eat. We had now very serious thoughts, lest we should perish in the wilderness. Our strength and spirits falling so fast in our deplorable situation, that we feared the Indians would kill us, if we gave out; but we mustered all the courage and strength possible, lest we should be destroyed by them.

One night, where we stopped, the Indians took their mocassins, which they had made of the hide of the moose, which they had killed before, from their feet. They were much worn at the bottom and tainted, by reason of the hot weather. They threw them away, and we prisoners picked them up, roasted and ate them. This poor repast strengthened us a little. The Indians had a calf moose skin with them. They burnt off the hair from it, they boiled it, and gave us a part thereof to eat. Through the goodness and mercy of God, we had strength to go on our journey, in hopes we should soon get to the end of it.

We, after some time, struck up on the waters of the river St. Francois. It was at first but a small brook. On the second day, we found it grow much larger. This night we came to the main branch of this river, and encamped for the night. The next morning an Indian told me, that, after travelling a little way, we should come to three canoes, which they took up the river in the spring, when the water was high; and that they had some corn, and spears to catch fish. We were very glad to hear this welcome news. We took courage and travelled on till night. When we came to the canoes, we were weary and tired, and almost worn out with hunger and toil. They boiled the corn, and gave us some of it to eat. We were now somewhat refreshed and encouraged, hoping we should soon get through the wilderness, and our toils and anxiety would come to an end; besides, we had water and canoes to help us along our tedious journey.

In the morning we set out with our canoes down the St. Francois river. The Indians went on shore and peeled some birch bark from the trees to make torches to catch fish with in the night. They caught a large fish, called Sturgeon, with their spears. This rejoiced us very much. They cooked it, and gave us some to eat. Then we pursued our course down the river. We had many carrying places over which we carried our canoes. At length, we arrived at a man's house. He had a number of cows. The Indians milked them, and we had good bread and milk to eat; which was a very luscious dish and highly pleasing to us; and we ate as much as we wanted. This house was a mile and a half from the village.

After stopping an hour or two at this place, the Indians ordered us on board our canoes, and we sailed down the river, with all possible speed, in hopes that our fears, danger and toil would soon come to an end, though not our captivity. As we approached the village, the Indians cohooped six times, three times for the three prisoners, they had taken, and three times for the three scalps which they had obtained in the excursions which they had made. They were soon answered from the village. They cohooped very often, during this mile and a half.

We soon came to the village. It was dark, but the Indians made it as light as day with their torches. There were seventy Indian warriors at this place. When we came near the shore, an Indian clinched me by the arm, and violently pulled me to him, swaggering over me, as though he would have killed me. I was surrounded by the Indians on every side, with terrible countenances, and of a strange language, which I did not understand. At this time there were great rejoicings among them over the prisoners, scalps and plunder, which they had taken in this nefarious enterprise. I was afraid they would abuse the prisoners. But while serious thoughts filled my mind, and awful apprehensions troubled me, respecting my situation, a man crowded in among the Indians, took me by the arm, and bade me go with him, and the Indians let me go, and I went with him. When we had gotten from them, he told me the Indians did not abuse the prisoners, provided they were taken from them, as soon as they brought them in.

This man took me to the guard-house, and delivered me to the guard. He inquired of me, how many prisoners there were of us. I told him there were three, viz: a white and a colored man, besides myself. He then went in search of the other two. He found Plato, surrounded by the Indians, who were throwing firebrands at him. Plato was crying like a child through fear. He was taken from the Indians and conveyed to the guard-house, where I was. Then they went in search of Mr. Benjamin Clark. They found him safe among the Indians. He was taken from them, and was brought to us in the guard-house. The guard seemed really to pity us.

A VALUABLE MEDICINE

For Coughs and Colds in Children.

"I have not the slightest hesitation in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs and colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watch maker, of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results."

Doan's Kidney Pills

Cure every kidney ill from Common backache to diabetes.

Mr. Joseph Clewley, of 47 Church street, bookkeeper for J. E. Knox & Co., Lynn, Mass., manufacturer of dies and cutting tools, says: "I used several prescriptions from physicians, trying to get relief from attacks of backache. The pain was in the region of the kidneys, and the medicine, but it always returned. If I took cold it was always worse, and at such times I was down right sick. I had a severe attack and used Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box relieved me a great deal. Continuing the treatment a short time longer I was entirely cured, and I have had no return of the complaint."

Colored Stockings Again.

When will fashion return to the white or gray stocking of undyed wool? Doe-tress-colored stockings have become the mode have been reaping a golden harvest from the leg maladies of ladies.
Violent shooting pains, weakness and numbness, swollen joints, muscular atrophy, false or nervous rheumatism or gouty rheumatism are among the ailments attributed to colored stockings.

It was remarked by a Vienna doctor
that the wearers of silk stockings suffered as well from vertigo and reching.
He thought of having the stockings analyzed and found they were loaded with a preparation of lead, which the skin absorbed. His patient returned to the old fashioned white stockings and has been improving since she did so. This case has made a noise in Paris, and let us hope it will dethrone the present mode. Most dyed stockings are poisonous. Those beautiful aniline red ones into which the nether limbs of children are thrust contain arsenic. Lavender stockings derive their beautiful tint from a preparation of mercury.—Paris Letter in London News.

A Pretty Bag.

presented is made of white satin and
is embroidered with gold tinsel thread,
which makes a charming combination.
An effective ornamentation for a bag
of this kind is a handsome guipure applique, the pattern of which is outlined and worked here and there with gold thread.

A Rose Jar.

A rose jar is made by placing in an ornamented tin three handfuls each of fresh damask rose leaves, sweet plums, wallflowers, stock gillyflowers and any other fragrant blossoms that can be obtained. Each variety should be arranged in a separate layer and covered thickly with powderedorris root. A mixture composed of equal quantities of powdered cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg may be stirred in with the flowers before they are placed in the jar if thought desirable. Care must be taken to have everything used entirely free from moisture. The jar should be kept closely covered and only opened occasionally when it is desired to perfume
the room.

Children and Manners.

Good manners consist in consideration for other people—that is to say, in intelligent altruism in small matters.
It is absurd to say that this kind of unselfishness in trifles cannot be cultivated, because it is largely a matter of attention. Manners are to a high degree teachable, and parents can do a very great deal to make their children agreeable by impressing upon them the worldly utility of being so, for no other argument would be of the least avail.

Athletic Women.

This is an age when physical strength and vigor are as much expected in a woman as in a man, and there is no limit to the athletic amusements which she may take up. Women play tennis, croquet, skate, ride, swim and shoot
as well as men, and cricket is about the only game in which they do not as yet indulge.

Pain In The Back

A Sure Sign of Kidney Trouble. Dr.
Kennedy's Favorite Remedy
Will Cure You.

Pain in the back is a never failing sign of kidney disease; another sure sign is the condition of the urine; if you have a pain in the back then look to the condition of your urine. Take a glass tumbler and fill it with urine; after it has stood 24 hours, if it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, pale or discolored, stringy orropy, your kidneys and bladder are in a dangerous condition and need immediate attention, or the consequences
may prove fatal.

F. C. Wilcox of 559 New Britain
Ave., Hartford, Conn., says:

"I had a frightful pain in my back, the result of kidney trouble. My physician seemed powerless to relieve me.
I determined to try Dr. David
Kennedy's Favorite Remedy;
it helped me wonderfully, and in a short time cured me completely."

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the one medicine that really cures all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation and corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer on the system. It is wonderful how it makes that pain in the back disappear, how it relieves the desire to urinate often, especially at night, and drives away that scald-ing pain in passing water and in a remarkably short time makes you well and strong.

ried the duke and went as a very young bride to England, she was informed by one of the duke's aunts that of course she must realize she held only her husband's name and rank, not his heart. The brave young wife bore this and many other trials
of a like nature with great dignity, content to wait and decide for herself whether she possessed her husband's love or not.

When she went to England, she had wealth, position and charm, but with motherhood there came also the added gift of beauty and a homely happiness that can only have its foundation in a peaceful family life. The young duchess possesses infinite charm, is very intellectual and, if she has any ungrat-ified ambition, I believe it is a desire to write well.—Paris Letter in Washington Post.

Women of Venice.

The women of Venice care nothing about stylish clothes, and Dame Fashion's rule is no law for them. Their dress is always dark, plainly made, neither short nor long. The universal open air garment for all ages and all sizes is the black shawl with a deep silk fringe, folded with a short point above and a low point below.

Hats are unknown. The headless slipper of the east is universally worn. In matters of dress the women of Venice are independent, wearing purely local clothes, but with feminine inconsistency they follow the fashion of the outside world in the arrangement of the hair, and the coiffures change from year to year, according to the modes in vogue in London and Paris.

And this makes one little corner of the world more interesting.

A Chance in a Life Time to invest on the ground floor with owners, in a developed free milling gold mine that has produced, and has expended on it,

Fifty Thousand Dollars

in development on the ledge and a complete five stamp mill with all other necessary machinery ready to run.

The Ozark is not a prospect, but a mine that has produced.
We are placing 100,000 shares of development stock at 25c per share, capital stock 1,000,000 shares (par value $1.00 each), fully paid and non assessable, to further develop and put the property on a paying basis.

A property lying near the Ozark, with nowhere as good a showing and very little development, sold last week to a New York syndicate for $200,000. The Ozark will pay dividends and be worth par inside of six months. This is the best investment for the money that has ever been offered to the investing public.

Do not lose this opportunity. It will never come again.

BETTER THAN PILLS.

The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation.

DISTURBED SLEEP

IN CHILDHOOD

If a child is restless in the night, starting suddenly from sleep, tossing about the bed, grinding the teeth—growing thin and listless, apparently from loss of rest—the trouble is worms. A few doses of that famous old remedy,

TRUE'S WORM ELIXIR

will expel the worms, and cure the diseased conditions, causing the child to sleep well at night, and, naturally, give it a bright and cheerful disposition throughout the day. Dr. True's Pin Worm Elixir is a purely vegetable remedy that would not harm the most delicate child even if it had no worms. In use 50 years. Sold at stores generally, 25 cents. Booklet on Children and Their Diseases free. Write us for it.

THE TOUGH DOES IT

Benson's Plasters are like your other friends—they hate to see you in pain or in weakness and are dog-tired hearing you complain about it. They want to cure you and send you along to your business—whole and happy. They can do it and will do it. Try them, on. What for? Why for any cough or cold you may be troubled with, or any bothering pain or ache, or worry with kidneys or liver. Possibly some old clutch of muscular rheumatism renders an arm or a leg worth only half price just now. For anything that makes the machine work slow and stiff, with pain maybe in the motion of it, clasp Benson's Plasters squarely on the bad spot. They are the get-out-to-morrow plasters—not the sort that go to sleep on your skin like a cat on a cushion. There is comfort and speedy relief in the touch of them. No other external remedy, no matter how made or how called, is worthy to live in the same street with Benson's Plasters. Pains and ailments melt away under them as a sheet of ice does under the Spring sun. You cannot forget the effect of Benson's Plasters; it is as sure as the effect of a hot breakfast in a hungry man's stomach. But look out for substitutes. Get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

A SERPENT'S APPETITE.

His Meal of a Rubber Boot Was a Disastrous One.

From a gentleman who was at one time a resident of Brazil comes a remarkable story about a snake that he encountered in the woods one day which followed him with much persistence.

"Sitting on a stump, I became aware of the approach of a huge snake," writes this gentleman. "He must have been fifteen feet in length. There was no doubt the snake was about to attack me.

"Without hesitating for a moment I discharged my two barrels. For a short time the reptile raged furiously, and I climbed a nearby tree. I had hardly reached the first boughs when I saw the snake approaching the tree, and it climbed up behind me.

"Higher and higher I went. Higher and higher came the serpent. My heavy rubber boots were a great drawback to my climbing, so I tried to get rid of them. I took one off and dropped it, and just as I had the second in my hand the snake reached me, and I, in my desperation, tried to shield myself with the rubber boot.

"Then the snake made a dash and, getting hold of the boot, turned and descended the tree. I was saved, but I had not the courage to leave the tree before my friends arrived. I told them of the adventure I had and rode home minus one rubber boot. Of his snake-ship nothing could be seen.

"A few weeks later on another hunting trip we found in the road a big dead snake, terribly swollen. We cut it open and found, to our astonishment, my rubber boot not in the least injured."—New York Times.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Thoroughbred dogs are less intelligent than mongrels.

A full grown elephant can carry three tons on its back.
The horse has no eyebrows.
There are 4,500 muscles in the body of a moth.

The Dorking fowl is the only living bird which in its adult condition possesses a five-toed foot.

The largest bird of prey in the old world is the lammergeier, or bearded vulture, which has a wing expanse of nine to ten feet.

Comparatively few horses attain to seventeen hands, but Kansas boasts of one that measures twenty hands and weighs 2,412 pounds.

Wasps may often be observed detaching from fences, boards or any old wood the fibers, which they afterward manufacture into paper mache.

The smallest of British animals is the harvest mouse, which makes a globular nest in wheatfields. A full grown specimen weighs half an ounce.

Mothers! Mothers! Mothers!

How many children are at this season feverish and constipated, with bad stomach and headache. Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children will always cure. If worn as present sent they will certainly remove them. At all druggists, 25 cts. Samples mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

A Moth Destroyer.

If you are living in a moth infested house, it is an excellent plan on cleaning a trunk, bureau or a closet to go over all the cracks and crevices with naphthalene. A can with a long spout enables one to do this quite quickly. The naphthalene evaporates very quickly, but nevertheless destroys the eggs or larvae that may have found an abiding place.

For the Cook.

The juice of an ordinary lemon is about a tablespoonful. A breakfast cupful of breadcrumbs well pressed in equals about four ounces. Very finely chopped suet slightly heaped up weighs about the same. A heaped breakfast cupful of brown sugar represents half a pound, and stoned raisins well pressed in weigh about the same.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cold to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it will wear them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 25c. and 50c. Trial size free. At all druggists.
